

Gary

This is Gary. Gary is the mascot of the Scottish Consulate. [0]

The Unicorn is the national animal of Scotland. The haggis was offered the position but turned it down. When picking a national animal our ancestors didn't feel the same compulsion to stick to reality that other nations have.

Gary is based on a drawing that was added to the Scottish Consulate whiteboard at EMF this past summer.

This drawing was transcribed, cleaned, and had a bit more rainbow added by DocOcassi for use as something approaching the Scottish Consulate logo/mascot.

Then attempts were made to bring Gary into the 3rd dimension. These were initially less than successful:

With some refinement the version of Gary you have now received was achieved. The templates from which this Gary was made are available at [1] if you would like to make more.

It would be great if this Gary could come and visit his kin at the Scottish Consulate at 33C3 (or other hacker events in the future).

[0] scottishconsulate.org

[1] argh.technology/pages-output/gary/